It is pretty well understood that they had other "homb-shells" in reserve and these would have been exploded as the exigencies of the case might have required. There is talk of a mysterious something so terrible that it was held back in the hope that it might not be necessary to rattle the bones of the hideous skeleton before the Joint Assembly. The managers are understood to be much relieved because this painful duty was spared them. The contest has taught the people of West Virginia one lesson which they ought not to forget. "No Republican Governor can be seated un-Republican Governor can be seated un-til there shall be a Republican Legisla-ture to back him."

Governor Fleming will be inaugurated to-morrow. The Governor's Guard, and a band of music will escort him to the Capital. He will be supported by Chairman Riley and Messrs. Chancellor and Oxley, of the Democrat State Committee. Some ingenious persons have set up the speculative suggestion that from the hour Judge Fleming was declared elected until the hour he shall be sworn in, West Virginia will have been without a Governor. Others maintain sworn in, West Viginia will have been without a Governor. Others maintain that the President of the Senate became acting Governor when Judge Fleming was declared elected and will be the law-ful executive until Judge Fleming shall take the oath of office as Governor.

Some who hold this latter view had a scheme to place Senator Carrin comscheme to place Senator Carr in con

THE SCHOOL BOOK FIGHT

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
CHARLESTON, W. VA. Feb. 5. — The school book fight was on in dead earnest in the Flouse to-day. The Indiana bill, known as House bill No. 24, was on its second reading. The amendments pro second reading. The amendments pro-posed, adopted and rejected would fill two or three columns of a newspaper. Mr. Young, of Upshur, desired to amend the bill so as to exclude the Indiana books entirely, but this was voted down. Mr. Jack, of Gilmer, desired to provide that the proposed Board of Commission-ers contract for the books now in use passed. Returning he had one of his from Decatur, Ind., says a party of men atthin followers, Mr. Sprigg, move a reconsideration. The committee took up the cadgels and the amendment was kneeked out by 30 to 10 time the taiking for the bill and by the time they were through they had charged with evil motives everybody not in favor of the Indiana scheme. They had not discovered any affection for the Indiana books, but they approached the question from the Indiana point of view; were loaded with specimens of the Indiana product and were listened to with

The day was spent on the bill and just before ajournment Mr. Stone, of Wood, offered as a substitute a bill providing that the present contracts shall be renewed for one year. The idea of this measure is to preserve the present system until the whole subject may be considered deliberately by the next Legislature. It looks to-night as though the substitute may pass, but it is unsafe to predict what the House will do. The Chairman of the Democratic State Committee was on deck in full uniform, and a great burden was lifted from him when the contest was over. Senator Kenna came, pulled a string and pulled it hard, and returned to the stately dignity of the Senate Chamber. Nobody came to help General Goll, who sent no frantic telegrams, hurried off no couriers, desired no whippers in, and needed none. He presented his case and awaited the issue.

It was predicted that the National Administration would place at his command a horde of office holders, and this prediction had as much foundation as the charge that he had sought to buy a batch of Democrats. the East room was crowded with people desirous of paying their last tribute to their friends. It was a most distinguished gathering and included a large number of people in Washington. Arrangements had been made for seating 350 persons, but over 500 managed to gain an entrance. All the doorways leading to the East room were also thronged with people, and it is estimated that there were nearly at housand persons in the house. As far as possible admission was confined to the personal and official friends of Secretary Tracy and his family, ond consequently few straugers were present. A great crowd gathered outside, however, and watched the carriages as they drove into the grounds. It was found necessary to station policemen at the gates to keep out the crowd. They were distinguishable only by the greater size of the one containing the body of Mrs. Tracy. A large Sago palm with gracefui spreading branches was placed between them at the foot. The sombre draperies of the caskets were almost entirely concealed by beautiful designs of emblematic flowers, white roses, camelias, lilles of the valloy, etc. Garlands and wreaths were also banked against the sides of each casket. These floral tributes were sent by Secretary and Mrs. Blaine, the German Minister, Senator Stanford, Senator Hale, Vice President and Mrs. Morton, Secretary and Mrs. Windom, Mr. James C. Spaulding was filed about three o'clock this afternoon, at the Clerk's office here, by Capt. W. A. Walden, of Columbus, and illiam P. Hayes, Esq., of Steubenville, their attorneys. The answer is a specific and detailed denial of the damaging allegations of the petition, and will undoubtedly do much to strengthen the strong manifes-tations of confidence which many have tations of confidence which many have already manifested in the integrity of the Spauldings.

In the answer David and Charles Spaulding deny that they were either elected or kept in office as President and Secretary and Treasurer, except as they were duly and lawfully elected by the directors who were elected by the stockholders.

They dony that Charles H. Spaulding They dony that Charles H. Spaulding kept no books of account as alleged; deny the allegation that he repeatedly promised stockholders to open and keep a set of books; deny that he was guilty of any negligence or omission of duty in permitting the papers to become injured and destroyed by flood of February, 1881, as it is not the floor of the property of the proper and destroyed by flood of February, 1884; say its not true that Charles as Secretary did not keep books of the business transacted, as alleged; deny that the Spauldings, as Secretary and President, have nover furnished to stock-holders a statement of the cost of build-ing and equipment of mill and nail factory.

COST OF BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT. They deny that the cost of the sam improvements did not exceed said that if he spoke to Col. Harper about a paper which would vindicate him he probably referred to the Luce letter, but he did not remember any such conversation.

This concluded Governor Campbell's examination and Lewis G. Bernard was a placed on the stand. He said that in October last he was a member of the Democratic Campaign Committee. In the early part of October in the committee tee room he was handed a copy of the Luce letter by Frank J. Kelly, Secretary of the Committee. Witness kept the letter for a day or two and then brought it to Washington, where he came on business. He showed it to John R. McLean. On his return he met Meeker at the Enquirer office, showed him to musiness. He showed him to make a copy. Witness then returned this copy to Mr. Kelly.

George Campbell, a brother of T. C. Campbell, was the next witness. He showed him to the said that he had given a signed contract to T. C. Campbell, was the next witness to to get it for him. Hadden added that there was no such paper. Witness head the witness to the corporation or its stockholders by reason of the failure to his brother and had been advised to let the matter alone, as both daysed to let the matter alone, as both campbell and Forake were friends of the third campbel and Forake were friends of the defendants in conducting the business thereof, or by reason of the failure to keep proper accounts touching the learner of Stitlerland.

AN IOWA TRAGEDY.

Judge's Son Blows a Negroe's Head Off in a Fight. GRISWOLD, IA., Feb. 5 .- A serious

day, in which the bar-keeper, John Farmer, a negro, and George Lowe, son of Judge Lowe, were involved during the fight. Farmer drew a revolver and fired several shots at Lowe and the bar-keeper, but all went wide of their mark. Lowe then secured a shot-gun, loaded it with buckshot and placing the muzzle within a foot of Farmer's head, fired. Death was instantaneous, the head being blown to atoms. One of the bells from Farmer's revolver struck Dr. Moore, who was attracted by the fight, and a serious wound was inflicted in the groin. Lowe was immediately arrested and placed in jail.

He Stole Coffins. CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 5 .- The Cincinnati Cremation Society, an incorporation for the purpose of incinerating the dead, has discharged its superintendent, Mr. Valentine Heiman, for a very pecul-iar reason. He was put under bond by a magistrate to answer to the charge of grand larcony. The articles stolen were coffins. Bodies to be cremated are, of coffins. Bodies to be cremated are, of course, carried to the crematory as they would be to the eemetary, in coffins. At the crematory the bodies are removed from the casket and it was the understanding that the caskets were broken up and burned. Recently it has been discovered that instead of burning them the thrifty superintendent has sold them, some times as low as one dollar each, to thrifty village undertakers. Hence his arrest and discharge.
